are following it over the bleeding fields of Europe. Each maid, dressed in her national costume, was cheered as she ascended the steps to the stage and took her place in the tableau which had been worked out by Mrs. W. A. Fitzgerald.

But the cheers that greeted the other flags were but whiffs when compared with the roar that met the first strains of the "Star Spangled Banner" as it was borne along the aisle, high above the heads of the great throng, by Captain S. L. Callahan, in front of it walked Miss Edith Harvey as Columbia, singing as she moved up the aisle. And behind it strode Lieutenant Ronald Harris at salute. No such scene has ever been witnessed in the Auditorium as that which greeted the advent to take its place among the other nations of the earth of the Star Spangled Banner. And as Columbia ascended the steps and took her place in the center of the splendid group, every voice of the 6,000 in the great hall rose clear to the notes of the song that makes the boys "Over There" snap their fingers at death and batter down the Hun lines on the frontier of civilization.

Call for Subscriptions
When the cheering had ceased Chairman W. O. Miles of the Liberty Loan committee presented Rev. H. O. Breeden as chairman of the meeting. And after Dr. Breeden had opened the meeting he called for subscriptions. And subscriptions came—one after the other. The largest local subscription given at the big meeting was announced by Harry C. Wilber for the estate of H. H. Berk. It was for $40,000. At once it was matched by the Standard Oil subscription of $50,000. Other large subscriptions announced at once were: $25,000 by the California Packing Corporation; $20,000 by W. P. Chaney; $10,000 by George C. Reading; $10,000 by William Newman; $10,000 by the Republican and its employees; $10,000 by Kutter-Goldstein and employees; $10,000 by Paul Mosesian; $10,000 by the Pacific Improvement company; $5,000 by Mr. and Mrs. Epstein; $5,000 by the Sperry Flour company; $10,000 by E. W. Riley; $5,000 by Guggenheim & Co.; $5,000 by the Danish Creamery and employees.

Mr. H. H. Howell was called on. He made a powerful plea for Fresno to stand behind the war. He said he had not come to tell Fresno what to do. Fresno knew its duty. He had come to thank Fresno to congratulate Fresno for doing it. He told how Corporal Bonnar had expected to be at the meeting.

"The nations represented by these flags gathered here," said Mr. Howell, "represent nations united in a bond of friendship which shall last forever. And the war is worth all it is costing of blood, of suffering, of money, if after it we shall have lasting peace by victory because now and forever we must decide whether right or right shall rule in the world."

Mr. Howell said the loan America had been called on to take up—six thousand million—is the greatest in the history of the world, but he said all those six thousand million would be used to break down forever the rule of force in this world and to establish forever the peace of victory. And the end was worth the cost.

After Mr. Howell finished speaking subscriptions again were called for. W. L. Lisenby subscribed $25,000 and O. J. Woodward subscribed $15,000; the Wonder $5,000 and the employees of the Wonder, $5,000; Henry Markarian subscribed $5,000; Ben H. Arakelian, $10,000; J. C. Arakelian, $10,000; Emma L. Arakelian, $10,000; the San Joaquin grocery, $7,500; Stern Bros. Appeal.

C. F. Stern, State highway commissioner, was introduced as the next speaker.

Stern told the great audience that Fresno tonight was a march that would not end until Old Glory had been set down in front of Potsdam.

He flayed the Kaiser, and he aroused his hearers to a high pitch of enthusiasm when he said peace would never come until it was dictated by America to a crushed German nation.

"Until we can have that peace, let us have no peace!" he cried. And the whole audience rose to his feet and cheered.

Then Mr. Stern walked to the front of the stage and told the people that the only way they would get such a peace would be by paying the way. Black Jack Pershing's men to Berlin. More Subscriptions Taken Subscriptions again were taken. And Lieutenant Ronald Harris, who went on the operating table so that he could go over there and get into the fight, felt that he hadn't done enough for his country by offering his life. He subscribed $200. Other large subscriptions were: W. C. Giffen, $15,000; Serbian National Defense League, $5,000; Dr. D. H. Trowbridge, $10,000; S. B. Goodman and family, $10,000; J. Gottschalk, $5,000; Chris Jorgensen, $2,000; M. B. Harris, $2,000; Einstein's employees, $2,000.

Then the subscriptions came so thick and fast they couldn't be followed. Hundreds subscribed $100. Many more hundreds subscribed $50. The Woodmen of the World announced $7,500. But it remained for the "Star Spangled Banner" of the Fraternal Order of Eagles to top every other subscription made last night by an organization when Secretary Roy Marshall announced $39,500.

No subscription lists will be given until they have been given out by the Liberty loan headquarters after they have been submitted by the different banks.

Lightning starts
BIG FOREST FIRE

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Sept. 27.—Lightning caused a forest fire in the Big Bear region in the mountains near here today. About 500 acres were swept over, according to R. H. Charlton, forest supervisor. Four rangers were overcome by flames and smoke while fighting the fire and a number of small summer cabins and camps in the burned area were reported destroyed.

Big Bear valley and Bear Creek canyon were the sections chiefly affected. An opportune rain quenched the flames after they had almost gone beyond control of the hastily assembled rangers and other fighters.

ARREST DRAFT EVADERS.
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—Nearly 100 men were taken aboard a steamer arriving here early today from Seattle and are being detained until their status under the selective draft is determined, it was announced at the local office department of justice.

18,000 PRISONERS, FRANCO-AMERICAN BAG IN TWO DAYS

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY NORTHWEST OF VERDUN, Sept. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—The number of prisoners thus far captured by the Americans in their offensive is now placed at eight thousand, of whom 125 are officers. The captured material includes more than 100 guns, twelve of which are of heavy calibre, many trench mortars and hundreds of machine guns.

PARIS, Sept. 27.—The French troops in the battle line east of Rheims made further advances today and in the two days' battle have taken more than 10,000 prisoners and considerable war material, according to the official communication tonight. The total advance by the French has been about five miles at certain points.

"The broke the enemy resistance on the whole battle front," said the statement. "On the right we advanced our lines a kilometer, capturing Bois de L'Échelle and Cerny. We found the railway from Châlons to Verdun for four kilometers, more than two kilometers northward."

"General Gouraud's army continued today splendidly to assault the formidable enemy positions in Champagne, clinging to the inextinguishable machine gun turrets, redoubts and labyrinthine trenches which they were in, the Germans tried to oppose our advance, but it was in vain. They are throwing in their reserve divisions one after another, but our troops, with admirable tenacity, are carrying them one after another all the redoubts bristling with machine guns. Our advance continues methodically everywhere. We are reaching the line of the hill tops."

Huns Face Big Menace
WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Faced by a smashing attack by the American First army in the Meuse, determined French pressure to the west just beyond the forest of Argonne and a simultaneous British thrust at Cambrai, German armies on the western front, in the opinion of officials here, are confronted by a menace that renders impossible the sending of aid to weakened Bulgaria. Realization that her strongest ally could do nothing may have had much to do with the despatch of peace overtures by Bulgaria. It was thought.

There is danger enough for the enemy, officers said today, in the Franco-American attack, linked up as it is with the British drive. As the thrust in the Champagne develops it appears most probable in many observers' eyes that the direct object sought is to extend the battle line directly up the Meuse until the Phlogville-Metz fortress is reached and the German armies surrounding it vitally separated from enemy forces in France and Belgium. Progress made by General Pershing's men in their first swift rush yesterday was startling in view of the difficult and broken country through which the drive was made and gave further evidence of waning German man power and also that German generals again were outwitted.

As the drive progresses, it is believed the French front beyond the Salpêtrière will become involved and the operation will be extended to the more open country before Rheims. "The cutting edge of the great attack, however, appears to be the American advance on the Meuse. It is well known, many of them think, only a comparatively limited further stride forward here to compel the enemy to undertake a great withdrawal."

Under terrific British pressure in the north it is probable that the Germans have been able to shift any troops from this front to help stem the new tide sweeping onward from Verdun. Nor has the American advance exposed a salient for a counter-attack at the flanks. The drive up the Meuse is in reality an extension of the line General Pershing set up when he smashed out the St. Mihiel salient. A straight line, standing in naturally strong positions, faces the enemy all along the front from the apex of the new drive at the head of the Meuse to a point far east and south of Don-A-Mouson, where American troops also were on the line at last reports. "There is little chance for counter-strategy to relieve the pressure in the center. Should the Germans fail to withdraw as is predicted, it is pointed out that the two new offensives are so designed that every advance by the British in the north or the Franco-American forces in the Champagne might form the beginning of a gigantic pincer movement. Once past Cambrai and St. Quentin it is conceivable that the British thrust would head toward the same general goal as the eastern drive and continued victory would mean the pocketing of all the German forces between with only limited means of communication behind them."

Make Artillery Haul

WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES NORTHWEST OF VERDUN, Sept. 27.—(By The Associated Press)—General Pershing's troops in their drive between the Meuse and the Argonne forest made a great haul of German artillery in the region of Dannevoix. The Americans captured four big 210 millimeter guns and eight 150 millimeter pieces and 15 trench mortars, 10 field guns and 24 machine guns.

West of Dannevoix the Americans captured twelve 77s which are now being used against the Germans, a large amount of ammunition also having been captured.

Attain All Objectives
PARIS, Sept. 27.—American troops in their attack northwest of Verdun appear to have attained all and more than all they attempted. Americans were confronted by the German Fifth army. This force had been diluted which explains the relatively small number of prisoners taken.

The American advance over most difficult ground amidst woods is looked upon here as a fine feat of arms. Mont Faucon whose heavy silhouette dominates the horizon was passed by the Americans and now is well within the newly conquered ground.

The Argonne forest itself is "dead ground" between the two attacking fronts but the capture by the Americans of Mont Ballinville (on the eastern outskirts of the forest) bottles up the Germans holding the positions in front of Four De Paris. Germans there now have the French in front of them and the Americans at their backs.

The Germans, it is believed here, have only one division in the Argonne. This force now has no other means of retreat but over the rough roads leading northward through the woods. "By taking Varennes and Mont Faucon with a series of positions that General Von Gallwitz considered so impregnable that he could not have taken proper precautions," says General Huter in the Echo De Paris, "the Americans have given a magnificent new edition of their victory in the St. Mihiel salient."

Yanks Add Laurels
AMERICAN FORCES ON THE VERDUN FRONT, Sept. 27.—(Reuters)—General Pershing's army once more has added to its laurels, and once more its task has been simplified by the excellent method of attack. A considerable advance has been made by the Americans along the front of attack. The enemy has been forced from positions which nothing would induce him to part with before.

In this region the reserve positions of the Germans are somewhat complicated. The Americans have taken what may be considered the Hindenburg line, but behind that are strong trenches called the Haggen positions. Behind these and again joined up to them by a good deal of wire and all sorts of defensive works, are the Volter positions which connect a series of strong places. All these must be passed before the Krimhelde positions—the line on which the enemy has placed his main reliance—can be reached.

But the inroads already made by the Americans have been great. On the American right, which rested on the Meuse at Regneville, General Pershing's men forced their way across a brook and forced their stubborn opposition clear through the woods beyond. Then swinging down from the crest of the hill they cleared Gricourt. In their stride they swept through Jure wood and finally after some stiff fighting brought their advance to a close by the capture of Dannevoix. The advance of the Americans was six miles deep, notwithstanding that the artillery of enemy was massed on the further bank of the river, and it was thought this likely would make an advance in this sector extremely difficult.

It is thought possible that the passing of the Germans by the Americans, which had been continued throughout the night, proved more efficacious than had been expected.

Enemy Makes Stand
WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES NORTHWEST OF VERDUN, Sept. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—All along the entire American front the Germans made a stand today, but in spite of their determined efforts to hold their positions, yielded one after another in steady hammering. The sweeping advance of the first day was slowed down, but tonight the line had been moved forward far enough to satisfy headquarters, and with the praise of the French, whose liaison officers are closely observing the operations.

The country about Montfaucon and the Argonne forest was the scene of desperate contests. The Germans left masses of machine guns, and it was against such formations that the Americans were forced to advance. In the Argonne forest the fighting often developed into an almost hand-to-hand character, as men reverted to the preliminary principle of warfare and crowded forward through the dense growth. It was fighting without artillery, for the constants were too close together to permit the use of guns, and they were left to fight it out. They still are in the forest, but reports indicated steady progress.

Apparently the Germans were a fight alone, but along the flanks, even to the north, units of Americans had advanced steadily, making certain the eventual withdrawal of the comparatively small part of the enemy's force stationed in the woods to delay the general advance.

Tanks Co-Operate
Thanks again co-operated in the operations while airplanes contributed materially to their success after the heavy clouds which followed the rain of the early morning had faded. Mud-bringing up of artillery, but by noon the guns were in position. They soon reversed what had appeared up to that time to be a slight advantage for the Germans. It was evident, however, that the enemy had recovered sufficiently after the first staggering attack yesterday to establish his line along the secondary defenses. These positions are good and it is expected that from the Germans will offer a stubborn resistance in an endeavor to at least check the offensive.

CHESTER H. ROWELL, Editor and Manager

JUSTICE TO ALL

President Wilson's speech opening the Liberty Bond drive was not an attempt to sell bonds or to enthrone the American people to a bond buying pitch. That task is rightfully left to others. Neither was it a mere breathing of defiance to Germany, though it pointed out very clearly why it is impossible to discuss peace on what Germany calls "terms." The conditions of peace are not the readjustment of territorial lines, but the reconstruction of the international relations of the world so that right and not might shall prevail. Germany's "terms" involve the delimitation of the boundaries within which Germany and the other powers may work their will, right or wrong. The true terms will have to be determined, conditions by reason of which no will for international wrong shall have power to work its way anywhere.

The speech primarily was directed even more to the Allies than it was to Germany. It was a picture of a world state in which righteousness shall be exercised towards those we hate as well as towards those we like. It is indeed a picture of a world state of which Germany shall be a member and in which justice and righteousness shall be done with respect to Germany as well as with respect to the powers with which we are allied. There shall be one world league of nations for peace and justice and there shall be within that league no minor groups or subordinate leagues. This world shall be one world in which all nations, weak or powerful, shall have an equal right to live on the basis of justice, and in which all shall be equally helpless to work injustice. The plan perhaps lacks definiteness, but of its timeliness the President, with his knowledge of the secret intrigues of other peoples, is perhaps a better judge than we. It is evidently intended to read a lesson to our Allies. Fortunately, even the most caring of them will not be in a position to resent it, and its truths will have to be considered because America has the force to back them.

THE SPIRIT GONE

It is strange how great a change can come over an institution like a newspaper by the departure of the one personality which has made it. The San Francisco Bulletin, for instance, did not consist of Fremont Older. Physically, he was only one person among them who collaborated to make that paper. He was not even the owner of the paper, and his authority was limited by the extent to which he could induce the consent of the owners. But when he went, apparently everything else changed. The pressmen and the linotypers and the types are still as they were; the same pressmen and printers turn out the physical product; the same clerks, solicitors and managers administer the business, selling and distributing of the newspaper's business, and in a very large extent the same reporters still gather its news. But the spirit of the paper has gone out of it and a stranger dwells in its place.

These remarks are perhaps most immediately occasioned by some recent instances in which the Bulletin not merely printed false and fictitious news, but those for its own purposes, the precise fictions which the Los Angeles Times had already invented. Uniform truth-telling may be a counsel of perfection. Probably Older would not pretend that it always happened under his regime. But if one must distort the truth or manufacture falsehood, there are ways and ways of doing it. In California the Los Angeles Times is the worst model to follow.

MICHIGAN, TOO

Michigan is in the same situation as California, politically, with the single exception that the Michigan law permits and the California law forbids the parties to make their nominations. In Michigan, Henry Ford, a Republican, ran for both the Republican and Democratic nominations for senator, and received the Democratic. In California, James Rolph, a Republican, ran for both the Republican and Democratic nominations for governor and received the Democratic. The only difference is that, as a result of contrary laws, Henry Ford is thereby Democratic candidate for senator from Michigan, while neither James Rolph nor any other person is or can be Democratic candidate for governor of California. And the Michigan Republicans, by consequence, are protesting against the law which gave them an opposing candidate, while the California Republicans are silent on the law which freed them from an opposing candidate. Both are, with naive frankness, considering nothing but winning this year's election. And both want to win it by the hocus-pocus of the law, rather than by the votes of the people.

The California supreme court upheld the law as it stands here. The Michigan supreme court would doubtless uphold the contrary law as it stands there. Both decisions would be right. The Michigan law is not constitutional because it is sensible, and the California law is not unconstitutional because it is foolish. Both are constitutional because the legislature passed them, under its inherent right to be sensible or foolish, as it chose. Similarly, the Michigan law is not bad, as the Republican convention declares it, because it happens to hit the Republicans this year. But laws are constitutional or not according as the constitution permits or forbids them, and both are good or bad according as they embody right or wrong principles. On principle, we maintain that the Michigan law is right, and the California law is wrong. If the people are to have the right of nomination, they, and not the lawmakers, should be the judges of whom they will nominate. No matter how apposite it may make partisan politicians to see the parties make nominations across party lines, the question whether they shall do so depends on the will of the whole membership of the party. Unless the majority agrees with the politicians, the judgment of the politicians should not prevail. And when they happen to get elected to the legislature, they should not seek to impose their will, by law, on the dissenting majorities of their parties.

WILL TO VICTORY

For three weeks "politics is adjourned," giving way to the Liberty Loan drive. But huge as is the sum which America must raise, it seems probable that much less than the three weeks assigned will be necessary to raise it. Previous drives have lasted for four weeks, but most of that time had to be spent in educating the people and in perfecting organization. Now the people are already educated and the organization is complete. The experiences of the past loans have been educative, but the daily casualty lists from France are more educative still. We are in the war now, not in theory or in prospect, but in fact, and a united nation is not going to let its soldiers at the front fall for lack of supplies, the money to pay them with. America is perhaps no more able to invest six billion dollars in the war now than it was a year ago, but it is much more able to comprehend the need and to understand how it must be done.

"We may borrow from the Germans their phrase, 'the will to victory.' That phrase does not mean enthusiasm which evaporates in wishing. It means a determination so strong that it continues no matter what else happens, a determination that will outlast discouragement and defeat, losses, sufferings, hardships and everything else without limit to the sole end that victory must be complete. America's resources are so vast that we shall probably never need to reach our limit. But, unless we are prepared to go to the end, no matter what the limit, it would be better never to have started. The will to victory must be without conditions or limitations. The test of that will is the price we are willing to pay for its realization. In these three weeks we pay one installment toward that price. This time it is still comparatively easy. We must be prepared to continue it in the future, as our allies have already done, regardless of how long it lasts or how hard it becomes.

GERMAN CRITICISES GERMAN PHILOSOPHY

One of the chief causes of the war is now generally conceded to be the widespread prevalence among the intellectual classes in Germany of the doctrines of Nietzsche, Haeckel and other philosophers. There is at least one intellect in Austria, however, who has had the courage to criticize sharply that modernized form of German materialism and evolutionism of which these thinkers are the celebrated exponents. Dr. George Wobbermin, a professor at the University of Budapest, has written a book containing a careful analysis and a destructive criticism on the chief types of current German philosophy, together with a vigorous defense of Christian Theism. Most significant and timely, therefore, is the issue this month of a translation of his work under the title "Christian Belief in God: A German Criticism of German Materialistic Philosophy." The volume has been ably translated by Dr. Daniel Sommer Rolph, now acting chaplain in the United States navy.

WAR DEVELOPS NEW DISEASES

AMSTERDAM. (Correspondence of The Associated Press).—The war has been responsible for the development of numerous new ailments in Germany, asserts Professor Albin in an article in the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger. Its effects have aggravated the various human ills. There can be no doubt, he says, that many people are aging more rapidly now owing to the worries and difficulties of daily life. People are going gray sooner. The action of the heart and blood vessels suffers. Exhaustive observations he believes, point to the fact that both at home and in the field, arterio sclerosis is a genuine war disease. "What part chronic underfeeding takes in this, we do not yet know," he adds. "The increased blood pressure on the heart and the blood vessels entails many dangers. Only in the years after the war we shall be able to gauge the full extent of this unprecedented tension which is taking up human strength. Individual power of resistance of course plays a great part in organic reaction."

"The number of those who have gone through this endless war so far without any impairment of health is not large, and it is not to any considerable extent, to the end, there will be few indeed who can claim perfect immunity. It seems to me therefore, that it is the wrong policy for the authorities to place so many difficulties in the way of people who need rest, relaxation and a change of air and surroundings."

"The state," Professor Albin concludes, "and this may well apply to all belligerent nations—needs careful husbanding of human material. Public and social hygiene are faced with problems of stupendous magnitude. The war has killed, maimed or injured more than a million people in four years time than in four peace decades."

"Consistent underfeeding has weakened the system in an extraordinary extent, especially in the matter of infectious diseases. Nothing proves this more conclusively than the increased mortality from tuberculosis, dysentery, etc. Burned down villages can be built up again more easily than human generations. The value of the individual has risen to a point which demands the most careful consideration."

"So you are going to send your wife away to the country for recreation? You need it badly."—Boston Transcript.

Fresno's Yesterdays

Taken From the Files of the FRESNO REPUBLICAN

Forty Years Ago.

If anyone who has seen Mariposa street six months ago will take a look at it now, he will become convinced that Fresno is to become a business center of much importance. Kutter and Goldstein have built or moved in six large stores, all of which are either occupied or leased. James McNulty, with a large force of men, is rapidly excavating the cellar for the new buildings in course of construction, in the corner of Mariposa and 1st streets. The corner building will be built by C. W. DeLong, one story high, 30 feet front and 75 deep, and of brick. The adjoining building next to C. J. Boyle and Company's drugstore, is being built by John Donahoe, and will have a frontage of 20 feet, a depth of 75 feet, two stories high of brick, and highly ornamented. The ground floor will be used as a hardware and agricultural implement store, and the upper floor will be divided into 7 rooms, suitable for offices. The erection of handsome brick buildings indicate substantial prosperity.

Twenty Years Ago.

The war has added several new words to the American vocabulary. Besides such Spanish words as "reconcentrado" and "hacermasade" which have been borrowed badly, there is the word "initiative" as describing a phase of character. The word was already a correct and an accepted one, but it did not come into universal popular use until it was applied by a French critic of our soldiers. Other words either introduced or popularized are "trocha," "machete," "Morro," "Filipino," and many previously unfamiliar naval terms.—Editorial.

Copenhagen.—The Queen of Denmark died this morning at 5:40. Louise, Queen of Denmark, was born September 7, 1817, and was married on May 25, 1842 to Christian IX, fourth son of the late Duke William of Schleswig-Holstein-Sonderburg-Glücksburg, and of Princess Louise of Hesse-Cassel. The dead queen was the mother of Alexandra, Princess of Wales, of Marie Dagmar, widow of Alexander III of Russia and of King George of Greece.

Ten Years Ago.

Tulare street from depot to depot with electrolights is a proposition that private owners are considering and that will probably come up before the next meeting of the City Trustees. The proposal is to use fifty-candle power lights and to place three electrolights to the block. The lights would illuminate in addition on every other block giving a cross-effect. The majority of the Tulare street owners are said to favor the project.

START TO DRAIN THE ZUIDER ZEE

WASHINGTON.—Undertaking a project which will cost about $89,244,000 and will add 328,440 acres of tillable soil to the nation, Holland, which will require 33 years for completion, the Dutch government has begun preliminary work of draining the Zuider Zee. A commission has been named to take the necessary steps for the commencement of the construction work under authorization of an act passed by both houses of the Dutch legislature, which received the Royal signature June 14, 1918, according to a report from Commercial Attaché Paul L. Edwards at The Hague.

The work of turning the bottom of the Zuider Zee into fields and gardens is divided into two distinct phases: First, the building of a great 18-mile dike from the island of Wieringen to a point near the town of Prims on the coast of the province of Friesland; and second, the construction of four dikes within the sea and the draining and reclaiming of the land in back of these barriers. The average depth of water which the great dike will encounter is about 12.5 feet below mean average sea level. The height of the dike itself above sea level will run from 13.5 feet to 17.5 feet. The body of the main dike will consist of sand on a body of brush and stone, with a surface covering of clay, and the outside lateral surface will be faced with a basalt riprap. A double track railroad will run along the dike on the inside. This day for the surface will be dredged from the bottom of the Zuider Zee and also will be transported from the island of Wieringen as waste material of a canal that will be under construction there. The total volume of the dike is estimated to be about 32,235,000 cubic yards. The estimated cost of the dike proper is about $11,256,000.

Although the completion of the entire project will require 33 years, 53,600 acres comprising the first section of the reclaimed land will be available for cultivation within fifteen years. Experts assure the Hollanders that the soil will be fertile, as, after the great dike has cut the sea, the Zuider Zee gradually will turn fresh, owing to the continual emptying into it of fresh water streams.

Several important fishing villages, such as Vollenland and Marken will be no longer touched by water, so the government has promised that special laws shall be passed providing for adequate indemnification of the fishermen and providing funds for the removal and reestablishment of their industry on the North Sea.

The government expects to receive about $3 per acre per year as rental for the reclaimed soil.

INCREASE USE OF WIRELESS

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The efficiency of wireless telegraphy has been enormously increased during the war, a semi-official statement issued by the government has promised that special progress has been made in sending wireless messages from aircraft.

In 1914 various difficulties restricted the use of wireless in conjunction with airplanes. Most of these have been overcome and the air has been of great assistance to the Allied forces in all military operations.

Without the assistance of wireless the use of airplanes could never have been developed so fully as it now is. "Artillery observation" by airplane is among the most profitable of all the uses of aircraft.

Far below in the batteries the wireless operators receive the corrections from the airplane. The signal comes to indicate that the right range has been found and, later, the "cease fire" signal to indicate that destruction has been accomplished.

The extended range of aircraft wireless leads to its use from airplanes on long reconnaissance, and the operator in the hut on the aerodrome, miles behind the lines, is the first to learn, perhaps of a new German blow. The employment of wireless in the making of groups intended to effect a surprise attack, vain hope, thanks to the wireless.

WOMEN IN WAR

By Albert Payson Terhune

NO. 29: PAPPAEA

Who Was One of the Causes of a World War

A mighty army was advancing by forced marches upon Rome, capital of the world. On the army's speed depended the success of its desperate enterprise.

Nero, Emperor of Rome and ruler of the world, had made himself hated by every decent man. And two Roman generals had decided to attack him in his own city, in an effort to overthrow his malignant power.

Of these two generals, the younger and more fiery was Otho. Joining forces with an aged general named Galba, he pressed on toward Rome, hoping to arrive there before Nero should have a chance to raise a strong enough force to resist him. For the sake of haste, Otho left baggage and wounded men along the road sooner than to wait for them. Then, as he neared the capital, he halted his army and turned aside from his rapid march. He turned aside and risked his chances of victory—in order to kneel and pray at a neglected tomb.

The tomb was that of Otho's beautiful wife Poppaea—a worthless woman who had ruined and disgraced her husband and had then cast him off for another man.

Yet Otho had never been able to forget her. It was to avenge her loss that he raised this revolt against his master Nero. For Nero was the man who had taken Poppaea from him.

Despoiled Husband Seeks Revenge. He knelt now beside Poppaea's grave weeping heartbrokenly. Then he buried the tomb in flowers and wreaths.

"Ne tuum quidem veterum immemor amorum!" (Not even then forgetful of his oldtime love!), grimly comments the historian, Tacitus, in telling of the incident.

Poppaea has been called "the love-kill and wickedest woman in all wicked Rome." She married Otho, who was a big-hearted spendthrift, a dissolute young patrician and the closest friend of the Emperor Nero.

Otho was no saint. But he was a man of honor. He loved his beautiful wife above all the world.

Nero met Poppaea and straightway fell in love with her. He wanted to divorce his gentle and long suffering wife, and marry this new beauty. Also, he wanted Otho divorced. Poppaea and thus leave her free to become Nero's bride. He hinted that Otho would gain great wealth and rank by consenting to this transfer.

Poppaea was willing enough. But Otho was not. He fiercely refused to give up his adored wife—even to the Emperor of the world.

Otho Sent Away Into Exile. Nero thereupon sent Otho into banishment, by appointing him governor of the province of Lusitania far away from the capital and by seeing he had no chance to return to Rome.

Away went the miserable husband, swearing vengeance. And Nero proceeded to marry Poppaea and to proclaim her the Empress of Rome.

Gladly she consented to divorce the absent Otho and to wed Nero. And she revelled in her new title.

Of a thousand acts which had taught all decent people to hate him.

Otho, far away, heard the news of Poppaea's death. And straightway he hastened the plans he had been making for a revolt. As soon as his emissaries could assure him that his venture had the slightest chance of success, he allied himself to Galba and in 68 A. D. marched on Rome.

The Emperor was able to raise only the very feeblest resistance to the oncoming army, whose ranks were swelled by thousands of his enemies. Soon his own troops deserted him.

To avoid falling into the hands of the man he had so foully wronged, Nero committed suicide.

WHEN THE BORE CALLED "This is my busy day," "time is money," and various other appropriate motives were hung about the walls of his office. But the inevitable bore overtook himself just the same.

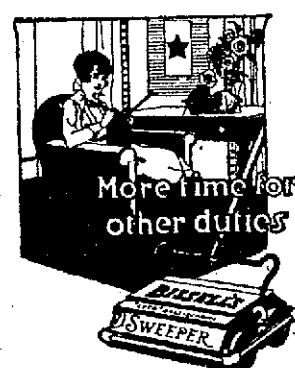

"How do you do," said the caller. "I've got just a word or two to say to you."

"Delighted, I'm sure, to hear them but—" "Oh, it won't take long."

"Won't it? Well, I'll tell you what you go out into the next room and sit down at my graphophone and say it. Whenever you want more cylinders, just ring the bell, and don't be afraid to let yourself loose. Just as soon as I get time, I'll grind it out again, and in the meantime we can both be happy."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

COMPLIMENTS OF THE SEASON "How's politics?"

"Looking up. Three gentlemen candidates are doing my reaping for me and a couple of lady candidates are helping mother put up preserves."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

HOLD NEW DRAFT LOTTERY MONDAY

Drawing Simply Gives Man Order Number
in His Class

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Monday, September 30, was set by Provost Marshal General Crowder today as the date for the national draft lottery to determine the order, in the classes to which they be assigned, of the 13,000,000 men from 18 to 45, who registered for selective service September 12.

The drawing will take place publicly in the Senate office building and the numbers will be given to the press and the country by district draft boards as quickly as the list can be printed and sent into the hands of the boards by mail.

It will be necessary this time to draw one at a time approximately 17,000 capsules containing the serial numbers and it will require approximately 25 hours to complete the task.

The creation of the classification system has so altered the situation since the first drawing that the order man's order in his class, and several considerations decide his class.

As an example the first number out of the bowl might be 245, Number 245 might be held by a man 43 years old, married and having children. The fact that this number is the first drawn stands for nothing at all. He would automatically go in the fourth class for dependency and unless the government reverses its policy of not including the deferred classifications he never would be called for service.

Similarly number 5,276 might be the very last capsule drawn and the holder might be a man 19 years old, unmarried and foot free. He would be practically certain to be called to duty soon, despite the fact that his order number was at the bottom of the list.

Then added to the effect upon the order of service which has been worked by the classifications, is the deferment because of a man's occupation, which might be considered more essential to the winning of the war than actual service with the troops.

The government has made it very clear that in this draft it does not want a single man in the army who is actually needed at home. All these conditions reduce the relative importance of a man's position in the drawing to his likelihood for service.

When the question of telegraphing the order of the numbers of all over the United States was fully investigated it was found that to do so would have entirely occupied all the facilities for distributing news for at least 24 hours continuously.

It meant that for 24 straight hours, possibly more, not a single word of news of the war or events at home could have been published by the newspapers. The plan of having the government use its own machinery—through the boards—to distribute the numbers was then evolved and it brought the added advantage of making the list when finally published an official one of which boards and registrants could absolutely depend.

The provost marshal general's office will distribute the official complete muster list of numbers to the district boards by mail as fast as they can be turned out. The boards will be instructed to give them out to newspapers and the public as fast as they receive them, which will be a few days after the drawing.

CONVICT FORMER FOOD REGULATOR

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—After fourteen minutes' deliberation, a jury in the United States district court here today returned a verdict of guilty against James A. Wood, former assistant federal food administrator for Nevada, charged with accepting a $100 bribe from officials of an Elko (Nev.) flour mill.

Wood was released on $1,500 bail, pending judgment, October 7. The maximum penalty is five years' imprisonment and a fine triple the amount of the bribe.

Schools

A field artillery central officers' training school for all men within the new draft limits, regardless of classification, has been established at Camp Zachary Taylor, about six miles southeast of Louisville, Kentucky. The field artillery is in urgent need of a large number of officers at the present time. The object of this school is to train a body of men fitted to fill the more responsible positions of command in the field artillery, and men of exceptional character and proven ability are required. It is essential that every candidate should have or be fitted through previous study, to receive at the school a thorough understanding and working knowledge of arithmetic, algebra, to include quadratic equations, and plain geometry. Applicants must be graduates of a high school or have equivalent education of instruction. A knowledge of trigonometry, to include solution of triangles and logarithms, is desirable. All candidates must be citizens of the United States. The course will be twelve weeks and it is planned that new classes will start from time to time as demanded by the needs of the service and the number of approved applicants. This will be heretofore the only training school in the United States for candidates for commissions in field artillery, which includes both heavy and light horse and motorized artillery. All men within the new draft limits, regardless of classification, who possess the proper qualifications, may now be admitted to the school. All men, except those in Class One and deferred classification on industrial grounds, if unsuccessful, will be permitted to return to civil life on completion of this course.

Aviation examining boards are authorized to accept applications for commissions from civilians to train as aviators, ages 18 to 30, ages 18 to 25 preferred. Applications can be received also as balloon officers, flying status between the ages of 18 to 45 inclusive. Induction of all the above men will be arranged by the examining board. Each civilian applicant, upon induction, becomes a private in the air service (Aeronautics). In the event of his failure at ground or flying school, the applicant remains a private in the air service. Men recommended by the boards who are sent to ground school for training without delay, upon completion of induction, induction papers will be forwarded with the board proceedings of each civilian recommended, and the final decision as to who shall be inducted, and when, rests with the director of military aeronautics and will be governed by the needs of the service. It will not be possible to induct civilians recently registered under the new law (18 to 45) until the applicant has received his serial number.

CARELESS CAMPERS FINED BY COURTS

On September 15, Forest Guard C. D. Wiley left his campfire left burning in Dursley Meadow, near Hume. D. A. Neal of Dunlap and W. H. Devenport of Fresno had left their campfire burning upon leaving to take a hunt. Wiley waited at the camp until they returned, arrested them and took them before Judge Robinson at Hume. They pleaded guilty to the charge and were fined $50.

On September 23, W. L. Thomas of Earlham left his campfire at Snake Camp, about three miles east of Hot Springs, without properly extinguishing it. Two hunters passed by the camping place shortly after Thomas left and found live coals in the ashes. They made the fire safe, notified Forest Guard Arnold, who in turn notified Deputy Supervisor Lyons. Lyons and Arnold visited the spot at once, carried water and thoroughly put out the fire. On September 23, Deputy Lyons arrested Thomas at Earlham and took him before Justice Mitchell at Hume. Thomas pleaded guilty and was fined $50.

through his local board, and board proceedings and induction blank of any such men must be held until this information is supplied. This examination can be held now, however. Every candidate must come up to a very high physical standard demanded by the flying service, and possess besides a sufficient ground work of education to enable him to accomplish the prescribed course preliminary to flying training. In a general way, this means a high school education or its equivalent, at least, and a knowledge of mathematics extending to algebra and geometry, and some experience and knowledge of gas meters and a good athletic record are also desirable. In case of balloonists, a knowledge of gas engines is not so essential. Two application blanks have to be filled out by each applicant, sworn to before a notary public, and accompanied by three letters of recommendation. Applications must be addressed and sent to the nearest "President Aviation Examining Board." At present there are but three examining boards in the Central Department, 230 E. Ohio St., Chicago, 555 S. Euclid Ave., St. Louis, Mo., University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn., and probably one at San Francisco and San Antonio.

The staff departments of the army have urgent need for large numbers of limited service men, who are experienced stenographers. These men are needed to replace men qualified and needed for overseas service, and are wanted by the Quartermasters Corps, Ordnance Department, Bureau of Aircraft Production, Signal Corps and Surgeon General's Department.

Applications for field artillery school, and information regarding the above matters, may be obtained from Military Training Camps Association, 2030 Mariposa street, rooms 7 and 8.

LEASE OIL LANDS

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 27. — The M. P. Oil Company has agreed to lease to S. G. Tryon, of Bakersfield, the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 35, 28-27, for the term of

- California Oil -

SEPTEMBER TO BE BANNER OIL MONTH

TAFT, Sept. 27. — The month of September will chronicle some of the most remarkable achievements in the history of the oil industry in California. The month witnessed the opening of a new field east of Brea with the coming in of the Standard Company's Kramer well. Success on this well means that three of the largest companies in the state will commence development work at once. The Kramer well, which has an output of 350 barrels, means that the proven area of the Brea field has been pushed out east five miles, and room has been made for a hundred more producing wells. This well may be just one on the edge of a vast pool and the next few months may see 2,000 and 3,000-barrel wells brought in.

September records will contain facts pertaining to the opening up of a water front field at Newport. The wonderful results obtained by the Liberator Petroleum establishes the certainty of oil at Balboa. This well drilled to 2095 feet threw oil over the crown block when cleaned out and swabbed. The rods and tubing are now going in and nothing less than a 200-barrel well is expected.

On the famous Temple property at Montebello, a 200-barrel well was brought in, making the sixth big well this property has produced since the opening of the year. The depth of this well is a little over 3000 feet, the time of drilling was short and the expense not above normal.

Wells brought in during the month increased the production over five thousand barrels. This production is largely high gravity and clean oil. September drilling records are the largest in the history of the field. There are more wild-cat wells going than ever before. These wells are scattered in widely different parts of the field so that their competition will mean something toward proving up new property.

September is also witnessing a grave shortage of oil in spite of the development success and new wells brought in. Fuel oil and gasoline conditions are beginning to merit serious attention. The autolease Sunday day seems to be almost at hand. In fact it should be established now. Supplies are running low and we should commence to conserve before the actual necessity is facing us. The war compels us to manage our business enterprises not according to our own wishes but to the interests of the nation.

twenty years, for the purpose of drilling developing oil wells. The consideration for the lease will be one-fourth royalty of all the oil produced.

SUES COMPANY TO OBTAIN ACCOUNTING

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 27. — Mark B. Smith has filed an action against the United Crude Oil Company, asking that an accounting be taken of all property transactions, and profits. According to the complaint, the defendants are the owners of a lease on the north half of the southeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 2, 11-24, and the plaintiff alleges without his consent, the defendants leased to the Associated Supply Company, a surface right to the property, and collected large sums of money for the use of it. The plaintiff now asks that an accounting be taken of all the profits and rentals derived from the land.

ATTACHES KERN MINES
BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 27. — Sheriff D. B. Newell has levied an attachment against the Mammoth Mining Company to satisfy a judgment of $2,333.60, being the amount awarded to the plaintiff, Jay Holstein. The mines attached are Pow Wow, Pow Wow No. 1, Pow Wow No. 2, 3, 4, and 5, the Lydin, and the Stag Quartz claims, all in the Hamilton mining district.

WILL CONSTRUCT HOUSES
BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 27. — A. P. Koch and Frederick D. Boese, transacting business as the Standard Construction Company of San Francisco, has agreed with the Southern Pacific Company, as owners, to build four operators' houses near Hume, Kern county, for $7,000. The houses will be 36 feet wide and 24 feet long.

WELL WILL OPEN UP NEW TERRITORY

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27. — Its yield marking the discovery of a new wild-cat oil territory in the east end of the Fullerton field, which is known as the Cramer lead, the 2743-foot well sunk by the Standard Oil Company has proved itself a 140-barrel producer of 20 gravity oil. Moreover, it is one of the shallowest bores in the Fullerton field.

The last 100 feet of the drilling was through oil sand and blue shale lively with gas. The Cramer lead is three miles east of the proven territory, and is extended to open up several thousand acres of new oil land. According to the oil men of the vicinity, its prospect is unusually promising and the results are being carefully tabulated by all men of the entire state.

The well came in Tuesday morning of the last week and was put on the beam Thursday. At present there is considerable competition by oil companies to lease the land between the wildcat portion and the proven territory. The Union Oil Company has also commenced drilling at the eastern end of the field, on the Chapman lead. Prospects here, too, are promising.

The territory at the extreme eastern end of the field comprises many Yerba Linda orange and lemon groves. The General Petroleum Company is active and expects to lease several hundred acres of the groves.

All practical nurses can be secured through the nurses registry. Phone 3477.

High School Activities

Walter O. Smith, principal of the Fresno high school, yesterday called a meeting of nine students for the purpose of systematically canvassing the school rooms for Liberty bond buyers. The following were appointed by Principal Smith: Chairman, Lawrence Young; junior college, Anne Dick; senior, Lawrence Young, Cecil Curtis; junior, Herbert H. Bauer, Norma Cobb; sophomore, William Thomas, Kathryn Calhoun; freshman, Wilfred Hunkins, Kathryn Bramcamp.

Principal Smith stated yesterday that he had found it impossible to assemble the entire high school in the auditorium, and says that according to reports received from all over California, the enrollments of other high schools have fallen off considerably, because of the call of the war and the various fields of labor. While Fresno high school has given many hundred boys to Uncle Sam, nevertheless, the enrollment has increased 145 this year, and last year gained 153 over the previous year.

The call, the high school monthly, with its new staff and a "win the war" policy, will make its first appearance in October. There are to be several changes this year because of war conditions. Expensive, fancy cuts will be eliminated and a cheaper grade of paper will be used to economize in every way. It is planned to have letters appear in the magazine from former students who are now in France. The following staff has been appointed: Editor, Kenneth Calhoun; business manager, Clarence Kinchloe; literature, Grace K. Graham, Leone Garner, Roma Bramblett, Mary Elizabeth Fox; organizations, Fannie May Craycroft; junior college, Helen Gray; athletics, Fred Loney; exchanges, Ora

Murray; alumni, Helen Thomas; Joseph, Claude Minard, Dorothea Kearns; photographer, Lawrence Hall; art, Henry Lion, Raymond Maxwell. T. J. Penfield, head of the high school English department, has outlined a new English schedule for this year. Literature, composition, oral reporting and parliamentary law work have been separated and each teacher gives either of the four courses during the day. Every student has two hours of literature, one hour of oral reporting, one hour of parliamentary law and one hour of composition each week from a teacher of that respective subject. Such a method allows the teacher in charge to concentrate on one line of work and produce better results and such specialization gives the student equally emphasized work in each of the four branches. A schedule of this kind has been discussed at all teachers' conventions and has been a principal topic of discussion among English teachers. Fresno high school is one of the first to arrange such a schedule.

The high school Red Cross book shop has cleared $210 for the Red Cross during its first school week of five days. Wm. Austin, manager of the shop, said yesterday that there were still about $100 worth of books to be sold. These will all be sold this term, netting some $300, which will leave $200 to make next term. Austin set the goal of the shop at $500.

At the students' affairs committee meeting yesterday morning, Clarence Kinchloe was appointed to act as business manager of the Owl, until a student body election can be held for the office. Edwin Crawford was appointed to act as president pro tem at the first student body meeting, which will be held some time next week.

MANY NEW MEN

SIGN FOR DRILL

Training Officers and the Volunteers Bringing in New Names

A number of draft men yesterday gave their names to the officers who are preparing to train the drafted men at the Armory, beginning Monday night. The new list will be added to the list of 375, signed up at the mass meeting Thursday night.

Captain S. L. Gallaher said last night that every man so far signed up will do a service by bringing in other men on Monday night for classification and training. He asks that each man take the names of the men desiring to receive drill. Captain Gallaher and Lieutenant Ferdinand Detoy of the National Guards and Major Ed Jones of the Home Guards and their assistants are preparing to handle 500 men Monday night. In addition to those signed, many new men will come, and those signed for other nights later in the week are invited to participate on the opening drill night.

Men drilling should begin at the beginning and not miss a lesson in their own series. In addition to the officers and signed men, Roy Marshall of the county exemption board, will receive names.

Captain Gallaher will go to Selma Tuesday night to assist in the organizing there. The names of those who have already volunteered to do training preparatory to service in the camps, and the days they are to report, are the following Monday:

J. B. Woodson, G. R. Kenny, J. P. Tupper, Earl E. Hughes, Russell Ritchie, J. Hayes, E. D. Uterbach, O. L. Kaupke, R. Blythe, A. R. Shroyer, R. N. Peterson, G. R. Shannon, W. Uhler, Frank Begole, J. DESIGNS C. R. B. BOXES Jr. R. C. to Assist in Making

Miss Alex Bradshaw, art instructor, at Fresno State Normal School, whose sample design for Belgian money appeal boxes has been adopted by the State headquarters, C. R. B., and will be placed in all cities of California.

Activities of the Commission for the Relief in Belgium have begun with renewed vigor, and some interesting plans are in formation for the winter. Signal honor has been accorded the Fresno branch, through the talents of Miss Alex Bradshaw, instructor of art at the Fresno state normal school, who lately designed for the local branch money boxes with high backs cut out to follow her most attractive design, and make their appeal for the pennies and more substantial coins from the various posts that these appeal boxes are placed.

The wistful little face of the poster child and the empty milk bowl is an invitation that hardly needs the printed words below: "Help Feed a Belgian Child."

So winning is Miss Bradshaw's design that it has been adopted for state use at the San Francisco headquarters, and the manufacture of these money boxes will be given out by school authorities as part of the allotment of work to be done in the manual training departments by the Junior Red Cross. The painting will be done by the art departments, and follow the sample done by Miss Bradshaw, which is most attractive, in coloring.

Eugene Mathewson, architect, has made the blue prints necessary for the manual training students to follow, and soon the Fresno artist and the local branch of the C. R. B. will be given similar state recognition.

Quart of Berries Brings in $5.25 for Red Cross

Despite the confusion of new improvements being installed, in the war of shelves, at the Red Cross Salvage Show, the members of the Puchanians lodge, under the chairmanship of Mrs. E. M. Packard, yesterday cleared $5.25. And of that sum $5.25 was made by a single quart of canned blackberries. The fruit was picked and prepared by Mrs. Packard, and an energetic salesman took it to engine house No. 1 to solicit a sale, and came back with the above sum. Today the Dickey Playgrounds Woman's Club will have charge and they are to specialize on fruits and flowers, some crated grapes to be among the offerings.

DISQUALIFIES IN COPYIST CASE

Judge Austin Says He Had Talked of Case; May
Ask Judge Short Here

Superior Judge H. Z. Austin yesterday disqualified himself from trying the Fresno county recorder's copyist case. He stated that he had discussed the case with several persons and that he considered himself ineligible under the circumstances to try it. Judge M. L. Short of Kings county probably will be called in.

Carl E. Lindsay, attorney for Miss Lillian Frame, who brought the suit, stated that the case probably would be decided on points of law, in arguing the demurrer filed by Deputy District Attorney R. G. Retallick, and not upon the evidence which would be brought out at the trial. This might bring an early settlement to the case. The copyists, who have drawn no pay for eight months, would welcome an early settlement, but are ready to fight the case unless paid at the rates claimed, it is stated.

FLIES OVER ALPS TO FRENCH FRONT

PARIS, Sept. 27.—Gabriele D'Annunzio, the Italian aviator, landed in France yesterday from an airplane in which he had flown from Italy across the Alps. His flight was over a distance of 280 miles.

Captain D'Annunzio left Turin at 9 o'clock yesterday morning and arrived at Chalons, behind the French front, about noon. He made the passage of the Alps quickly, although the conditions among mountain air currents were unfavorable. He used the same machine in which he had flown over Vienna last August, and the same pilot, Captain Palli, guided the machine.

Captain D'Annunzio, after landing at Chalons, joined Gen. Albiro, commanding the Italians on the French front, and was warmly received by his compatriots.

ATTENTION!
All members of the Danish Brotherhood Lodge, No. 67, is hereby notified to meet at Odd Fellows' hall at 1:15 p. m., Sunday, September 29, 1918, to attend the funeral of our late brother, Hans Graff.

Secretary.

INCREASE OF RATES ASKED BY POWER COMPANY

Surcharge of 10 Per Cent
Granted in May Insufficient

San Joaquin Light and Power Company Wants
10 Per Cent More

Hearing of the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation appeal for a surcharge of 10 per cent in addition to the surcharge of 10 per cent granted by the State Railroad Commission in May last came before the commission yesterday in the court house. Commissioner P. R. Devlin heard the appeal, and representatives of the company presented the case on its behalf. Only two persons were present to protest in person. Attorney B. D. Green represented a number of cities in the valley, but confined himself to the cross examination of witnesses. The case was taken under advisement and the decision will be given later.

In presenting the appeal on behalf of the company it was stated that the former surcharge was only made until the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation had been enabled to meet its 1918 expenses in connection with its electric service to such an extent as to enable the company to receive an 8 per cent return on its electrical investment.

It was explained that in arriving at such a decision it was necessary to resort to the making of estimates as to the future earnings and operating expenses of the company. This involved, the company asserts, an estimation of the probable amount of water that would be available for the generation of electricity and the probable amount of current that would be required to answer its customers' needs, as well as the amount of oil that would be required at the company's steam plants.

Company Underestimates. The company explained that great difficulty was experienced in predicting what the future conditions would be and, therefore, accurate estimates were impossible to make. It was stated that the company gave the commission all the information it possibly could, and made its estimates as accurately as it knew. The company's engineers, as well as the representatives of the various municipalities also presented their estimates, the company declared.

The position of the company in its original application, the company officials declared, was that it later, it was demonstrated that the company had been too conservative in making its estimates, and the increase allowed by the commission was insufficient to give the proper rate of return, the company would promptly apply for further relief. On the other hand, the company asserted, if the increase allowed by the commission was more than sufficient to accomplish the desired result it would submit to a modification or an entire removal of the surcharge.

Previous Surcharge Inadequate. The surcharge became effective on June 15, and the company now asserted that after three months' operation all increase of rates of 10 per cent was entirely inadequate.

In seeking for the present additional surcharge the company de-

PECULIAR UNIFORM TRAPS DESERTER

Through the incongruity of his uniform, combining various arms of the military service and the red and gold bands on his cuffs, Robert Jeffrey, private soldier, was arrested by Deputy United States Marshal Shannon's office yesterday for desertion and lodged in jail for the military authorities.

According to Shannon, Jeffrey had deserted from the regular army at Camp Fremont June 17 and since then had visited Richmond, Stockton and Fresno, having on the last of the month, been seen in the latter city, where he had been gassed and wounded in the trenches. Jeffrey, according to his own statement, hadn't worked a lap since his desertion and had lived on the fat of the land. He had seen three years' service in the regular army in the Philippines, having enlisted in the infantry at Jefferson Barracks, St. Louis, Mo.

Although belonging to the Infantry, he had the insignia of other parts of the service, including the shoulder straps, the light red hat cord of the signal corps and the red and gold wristbands, designs of his own, signifying having been wounded in action. While only a private he also wore the chevrons of a sergeant.

No such irregularities as those on the cuffs are recognized by the United States army.

Jeffrey, who is a native of Murfreesboro, Ill., is 26 years old and of a pleasing personality.

He declared that it had been called upon to generate much more electricity than was anticipated, while the amount of water available for power purposes was considerably less than estimated, which meant that the company is called upon to make much more use of its steam plants than anticipated, and these plants were operated with oil at an extremely high cost.

The officials asserted that in spite of the increase in rates, and the unusual increase in business the company's profits from its electric business for the first seven months of 1918 are considerably less than for the first seven months of 1917.

Want Fair Return. The company pleaded that its only desire was that it be permitted to continue to earn the rate of return heretofore established by the railroad commission as being fair, that it might be able to maintain its credit and obtain money with which to make needed extensions and developments.

The figures for the company were submitted by G. R. Kenney, the company's attorney, and A. C. Balch, vice-president of the company, also testified. Short and Suberland, attorneys, appeared for the company, and Murray Bourne, local attorney for the company, was assistant counsel.

Objection was raised to the increase by Messrs. Jennings and Styles, prominent McFarland agriculturists, who alleged that they could not afford to pay more because the water level in their district had lowered thus requiring more power to pump it and on account of the high cost of labor and the high rents in the district.

Commissioner Devlin took the case under advisement, and will render his decision later.

CHANGES ITS HEADQUARTERS. BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 27.—The B. and E. R. Dudley Petroleum Company has filed a notice in the county clerk's office of a change of place of business from San Francisco to the city of Oakland.

CALL FARMERS TO WHEAT MEETING

Heads of Council of Defense and Farm Bureau
Invite Growers Wed.

Farm Advisor Lefroy B. Smith yesterday mailed letters to many of the farmers and business men of Fresno county calling upon them to attend the wheat meeting arranged by the Farm Bureau and the Council of Defense Wednesday. The letter follows:

FRESNO, Sept. 27, 1918.
To the Wheat Men of Fresno County:
As a grain grower and as a patriotic citizen you are interested in the Federal government's call for wheat. In order that Fresno county may do her full share and for the purpose of exchanging experience and securing information which we believe will be a benefit to all concerned, you are earnestly requested to meet with the wheat growers of the county at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, October 2, at the council chamber, Fresno city hall.

Subjects up for discussion are:
Varieties of wheat adapted to Fresno county. Merits of Sonora, White Australian and Early Raar. Time for seeding.

The seed wheat situation. Information on supply and prices. Treatment of seed to kill smut. Explanation of the government's recommended blue-stone lime treatment. (Demonstration at Fresno fair and at the meeting if possible.)

Putting barley lands into wheat. Preparation of wheat lands and irrigation.

Experiences with the use of commercial fertilizers.

Geo. McLeod, wheat expert of the Sperry Flour company, will give a short talk on milling qualities in wheat. Other competent wheat men of practical experience will be on hand to take part in the discussion.

The United States Department of Agriculture asks American farmers to sow a minimum of 45,000,000 acres of winter wheat. California farmers are called upon for 55,000 acres. Fresno county's quota is a minimum of 46,000 acres.

This war-time wheat program can be put over only by the wheat farmers of the county. Your presence is earnestly desired in this effort to make the "Liberty" wheat harvest of 1919 the bumper crop that is necessary in winning the war.

Yours very truly,
FRESNO COUNTY FARM BUREAU,
Geo. Peaver, Jr., President,
Fresno Division State Council of Defense, F. A. Homan, Chairman.

MOTORIST IS KILLED WHEN CAR GOES OVER CLIFF

C. A. Clark, Federal Construction Foreman; Has Tragic Death

Car Leaps Embankment At Bad Curve and Falls Down 25 Feet

MERCED, Sept. 22.—C. A. Clark, foreman of road construction for the federal government, in Yosemite National Park, was killed when his car went over an embankment on the El Portal-Yosemite road as he was on his way from El Portal to Yosemite Village. The dead man's body and his overturned car were found at 7:45 o'clock this morning by a stage driver who passed the scene of the tragedy, which was near the intake of the dam at Pohono Bridge. At that point a treacherously sharp curve occurs in the road, and evidently Clark's machine went over the embankment instead of taking the curve. The body of the man was found with a large boulder pinning it fast, the rock evidently having been freed by the automobile in its descent down the 25-foot bank. The body was outside the car when found.

Clark resided with his family at El Portal. He left there at eight o'clock last night in his automobile to go to Yosemite Village. As the point where he was killed is reached in short time from El Portal it is presumed that the accident occurred shortly after eight o'clock.

Clark had been in charge of the government's road construction in the park for the past two years, during which he superintended the building of the important roadway between Yosemite and Arch Rock, involving an expenditure of $150,000. Before his assignment to that work he had charge of similar work in Rainier National Park, Washington.

Clark was planning to move with his family to Seattle next month.

Clark was about 42 years of age. He is survived by his wife and two sons, one of whom is a freshman in the Merced high school.

PLAN CITY MANAGER

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 22.—J. E. Wheeler, accountant and city auditor of the city of Taft, has recommended to the Taft city trustees a plan for a city manager for the power, investment, and other departments of the city, similar to that in use in Bakersfield since 1915.

Dixon's Solve Your Lubrication Problem Metal-to-metal contact in bearing surfaces causes friction. Unchecked it reduces your power, increases expense and shortens the life of your car's usefulness.

DIXON'S GRAPHITE LUBRICANTS

put a wear-resisting film of selected fine graphite over the metal surfaces. Dixon's alone prevents grinding and gives you a better-running, longer-lasting car.

Kingsburg to Start Liberty Loan Drive With Monster Parade and Rally Tonight

LIVING RED CROSS TO BE PRESENTED BY TWO HUNDRED WOMEN AT KINGSBURG

KINGSBURG, Sept. 22.—Kingsburg will start its Liberty Loan campaign with one of the most significant and successful parades and rallies the city has ever known this evening commencing sharply at 7:30 p. m. The entire Kingsburg district, like one big unit, with hundreds of representatives from Fresno, Selma, Fowler, Dinuba, Reedley and scores of other places, will turn out en masse. It will be one important night for the whole citizenship of the district.

Arrangements for the program have been under way during the whole week, and scores of committees under the leadership of Dr. Flora Smith and Mayor George Benson are busily engaged formulating special features for the big procession. The parade will consist principally of local organizations and people and be honored by friends from outside cities, men and women of state and national renown. Human Red Cross.

One feature of the procession will be the human Red Cross, which will be composed of 200 loyal American women garbed in pure linen with red caps. Brass bands will be interwoven in the great line, and several drum corps, the Boy Scouts, who are always ready to aid, will be in line, and scores of marshalls will guide the march.

It is expected that there will be one remarkable feature, which Kingsburg has never had the pleasure of seeing, if it can be procured by the executive committee, not yet known to the public. The Japanese will also have a part in the procession, also the school children from many schools. The entire Kingsburg district will close from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m. and join in the big march and the local firemen will participate. A splendid program will be given in the park by the local band and eloquent orators to speak on the bond drive. Mayor William McCombs of Fresno will be with the Kingsburg people and his entire executive staff, Corporal Bonner.

Corporal James Bonner, a Fresno soldier who was recently awarded while in action in one of the big engagements over there, is now on his way here and will be present at the big celebration tomorrow evening to help boost for the Fourth Liberty Loan. This attraction will alone be worth everyone's time to come to Kingsburg, while the many other attractive things on the program will make up a full evening of intense interest.

All mothers of soldiers will be given a reception at the band stand. It is the intention of those in charge of the Liberty Loan campaign in Kingsburg to begin the drive at the conclusion of the program, and the entire district will be rigidly canvassed with the determination to reach the full quota at the earliest possible date. Every resident of the city and district is asked to turn out and take part in the parade.

SHIPS FIRST CAR OF ALMOND OUTPUT

OAKDALE, Sept. 22.—The Oakdale Almond Growers' Exchange shipped the first car of the 1916 crop this week. Several more cars are waiting to be loaded, but the crop is held up awaiting orders from the state exchange. The first car went to the Alameda wharves. Indications at present are that the output of first-class nuts will be very limited, due to the recent storm, a condition which affects the industry over the state of California. Probably 50 per cent of the crop was still on the trees when the rains came, and the shells were discolored as a result. The meat of the nut is still as good as before the rain, but it is feared that bleaching will not take out the discoloration caused by the water soaking through the green hulls. Because of this shortage the association has again advanced the price on fancy nuts, and the best quality is quoted now at 25 cents. The exchange will handle the rain damaged nuts, but many of them will be sent to the Sacramento plant to have the meats removed.

SEEKS RELIEF IN COST OF HIGHWAY

MERCED, Sept. 22.—A delegation of officials of Maricopa county was here yesterday en route home from Sacramento where they were in conference yesterday with the advisory board of the state highway commission seeking relief from the burden of taxation which is to be assessed against Maricopa county for interest on the state highway bonds issued for the building of the state highway in that county.

According to the Maricopa officials the sum of $340,000 has been spent by the state in building a 23-mile road in Maricopa which is traversed mainly by Yosemite tourists, and therefore serves the outside traveling public more than the Maricopans. The interest on the bonds per year is $17,325.66, which on the country's assessed valuation of $3,500,000, will mean a levy of five cents per $100 valuation, which they maintain is an unjust burden.

While the law provides that interest on the state highway bonds must be paid by the county in which the road is built, the Maricopans point to a clause in the law which permits relief in cases where such taxation is an unreasonable burden to the county.

The highway commission's advisory board gave the Maricopans a hearing and took the case under advisement. While the decision is yet to come down, the returned delegates today stated that they received no hints of encouragement.

The Maricopa officials state that already Maricopa county suffers some unreasonable tax hardships as a large part of the county has been taken by the federal government in carrying out Yosemite National Park which cuts the county's taxable territory off from the county's taxable resources, although the county is required to keep up the schools, policing and other institutions in the park.

The Maricopans in the conference party were Supervisors H. W. Cornett, C. L. Booth and C. I. Mentzer and Auditor J. W. Pratt.

GROW COTTON ON MOJAVE DESERT

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 22.—Good specimens of the Egyptian long staple cotton grown on the Mojave desert have been brought to the Kern county board of trade by C. C. Todhunter, a rancher at Cantil, 25 miles east of Mojave. The cotton was planted last April and the first bolls appeared on July 10. These bolls opened Sept. 10. Todhunter is of an experimental turn of mind and after home-raising a lot of cotton, he has now planted a lot of cotton on the desert. Having water he grows vegetables and some alfalfa. A stretch of bamboo forms a wind brake and one fourth of an acre is planted in the cotton. Some of the plants are about five feet in height and the flowers and bolls are profuse.

PROMOTE ARMY MAN

OAKDALE, Sept. 22.—Leslie A. Nickerson, son of G. H. Nickerson, superintendent of the Oakdale Irrigation district, has again been promoted, and is now a first lieutenant in the signal corps. He has also been made battalion adjutant and is with the 22nd Signal Corps at Camp Fremont.

Nickerson enlisted six months ago from Stockton, where he was with the engineering department of the Southern Pacific. He was made a corporal, and then sent to the training school.

WILL RAISE STAMP QUOTA

OAKDALE, Sept. 22.—Oakdale now lacks but $200 of completing its $25,000 war stamp quota and a determined effort is being made to finish before the Liberty loan campaign gets under way. The committee is asking all of those who pledged on the stamp campaign to take up their pledges at once, so that it will not interfere with the bond drive. This is being generally done, and the quota will be completed this week. Incidentally, Oakdale's quota did not include any pledges from banks or other institutions, but were all legitimate pledges by individuals.

PAINLESS DENTISTRY

Is an accomplished fact and this we demonstrate daily in our offices. If you have a tooth which is badly decayed and the nerve has to be removed, that nerve is absolutely killed and the tooth made immune from pain before that nerve is removed.

If you have a tooth which must be extracted there are many reasons why you should come to our offices for that operation. Skill and dexterity, proper methods and painless treatment. We do not compete with cheap quacks nor self-styled painless dentists but only with first class dentists who charge twice the price that we do.

We charge the same prices that you pay back east and give a written guarantee with all work that we do.

Don't fail to come in and have us give you an estimate on the cost before having any dental work done.

Out of town patients finished in the shortest space of time consistent with good work.

Every dentist who is associated with me is a specialist in his line.

DR. KLEISER.

MY SYSTEM is the only safe and sure method of preventing pain known to dental science. It gives you comfort without any after effects whatever.

I offer you guaranteed painless dentistry at lower prices than you would pay elsewhere for the painful kind. Which do you prefer—comfort or torture?

A short time ago I published a page ad, telling about my modern dental methods. You probably saw that ad, and intended calling on me, but neglected to do so. I now want to remind you to call and get my price on the dental work you need. I make no charge for examinations. Consultation free to all.

The replacement of lost teeth without the use of plates is one of the most scientific parts of modern dentistry and although not understood in all its details by the average dentist, it is playing a very important part in modern dentistry.

Do not fail to have your teeth examined free and get my prices on your work before you allow another dentist to fix up your teeth. I will save you both pain and money.

NO GOOD AMERICAN needs to be told that every dollar subscribed in loans means lives saved.

NO GOOD AMERICAN needs to be told that every bond bought means the war is just that much nearer the right kind of an end, because it means the Allies are just that much nearer Berlin.

NO GOOD AMERICAN needs to be told that a subscription to a bond—buying a bond—means no sacrifice, but a good, paying, secure investment.

NO GOOD AMERICAN, no good citizen, no one enjoying the protection of our flag or the benefit of our institutions, who has the means, will avoid buying a bond.

CHAMBER TO HELP IN PRODUCTION OF WHEAT

List of Available Lands for Rent Being Made

Seek to Put Fresno
County's Acreage of Wheat Over Quota

Fresno chamber of commerce is now acting as a clearing house for increasing the amount of acreage of wheat in the county by bringing together those who have land to rent for this purpose, and those who are desirous of leasing land for the raising of wheat, according to H. E. Patterson, secretary of the chamber of commerce. The chamber of commerce has now a list of persons who are willing to utilize their land for the raising of wheat, and a list of others who are seeking wheat land.

It was explained by Secretary Patterson that this movement was first taken up by the Council of Defense in response to the government's call for more wheat production, and the council has now handed over the work to the chamber of commerce. It is stated that the county farm bureau is making an official survey of land that might be available for wheat, and the chamber of commerce is now cooperating with the farm bureau in seeking to increase the acreage.

Secretary Patterson said that California's quota had been set down as 533,000 acres of wheat, and already 40,000 to 50,000 acres had been assured by Fresno county, an amount which is considerably in excess of the quota for the county.

So far, he said, there had been no demands for seed in large quantities, although there had been several applications for seed in small way.

Treatment Demonstrations: Secretary Patterson drew attention to the fact that prospective growers of wheat would find practical demonstrations for the treatment of wheat diseases at the fair under the auspices of the University of California. He said that a considerable amount of the wheat crop was lost every year on account of the ravages of smut and other diseases that could be easily and by scientific treatment with a solution of bluestone and other chemicals.

By the elimination of these diseases, he said, not only would the wheat raiser make larger profits, but the food resources of the country would be benefited.

Those desiring information on available land for wheat raising are asked to communicate with the chamber of commerce.

Following is a list of persons having land to be rented for wheat raising:

Mrs. G. K. Jones, 921 Echo Ave., Fresno, has 300 acres near Angiola. Wants to rent and willing to supply seed.

Fig Institute to Be Chamber's Fair Exhibit

The exhibit of the Fresno Chamber of Commerce at the district fair will not be a duplicate of the exhibits made by the chamber at Los Angeles and Sacramento. Secretary H. E. Patterson said yesterday. The exhibit at the district fair will be staged merely as display of the resources of the county, and is not intended to compete, he said, as many of the towns will be showing the same commodities, and the competition will be between them. The central feature of the chamber's exhibit will be a fig institute.

Secretary Patterson claimed that when the present acreage in Fresno district comes into full bearing Fresno will be one of the fig centers of the world. Smirna is at present the principal fig center. He said that it would be ten or fifteen years before the fig orchards of Fresno will reach their full bearing.

In addition to this, he said, Fresno would have the control of the fig business as it had control of the peach and raisin industries.

Another feature of the exhibit, he said, would be a film showing the fig industry in every form. Films will be screened showing the fertilization by the wasp, and the growth of the fruit from the time it is planted. Other films will show methods of fire prevention and a scenic display of the Kings river canyon. The pictures will be shown continuously during the run of the fair.

At the conclusion of the fair the exhibit will be taken to Los Angeles.

PLANS ABANDONED FOR HOUSE RECESS

FORMER FRESNO YOUTH CALLED

Word has been received that Denwood W. Newbury, a former Fresno boy, died of typhoid fever while acting as a timekeeper for Gordon & Venable in a lumber camp at Mount Spokane, Wash. Denwood, who was the son of Dr. and Mrs. N. Newbury, had resided in Fresno six years. He was but 17 at the time of his death. Grievedly disappointed that he was too young to enter the army he did all he could by aiding the French war fund, the Armenian relief, the purchase of a Liberty Bond and war stamps as well. At the time of his death he was employed in helping get out pine for the Diamond Match company. He had also collected $44 from the men at the camp for the Red Cross and had been a Boy Scout while residing in California. He was also deeply interested in church work and took an active part in the Sunday school. Had he lived it was his intention to enter the Lewis and Clark high school.

MORE DELAY IN VOTE ON SUFFRAGE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Majority Leader Martin announced in the Senate today that there would be no vote on the suffrage resolution before Monday, even if an attempt is made by supporters of the measure to hold the Senate in session.

Efforts of Senator Martin and other opponents of the resolution to have the Senate adjourn until Monday failed, and on motion of Senator Shafter, of Colorado, a suffrage supporter, adjournment was taken until noon tomorrow.
